They moved up a little closer to the huts, when they were fired on. The captain and the man with him turned to look for cover, when the captain said he was hit. Two balls struck his camera case, which he wore on his hip. This Dutchman that was with him turned around alone, and in plain sight, stood this band of over twenty insurgents off until we could reach him. They retreated when we came up, taking their dead with them. We carried the captain back to camp, a distance of fourteen miles back to camp, a distance of fourteen miles that night. The lieutenant was brought in yesterday. He is a little fellow, not as big as I am. Yesterday we gave the spy a scare. We took him out and put a rope around his neck and told him that if he didn't tell all he knew about the insurgents up he would go. Well, he told us all he knew. He told us that our missing men had passed through this town, and that one of them was so sick that he was left with the priest of the town. I have just had the two prisoners out building breastworks across a road in rear of the camp in case of an attack by the insurgents. They have adopted guerrila warfare row, and if we run across them there will be no prisoners taken. Our company is just beginning to get hard luck. Our captain is the first man killed in the regiment, although quite a number have been wounded, and then losing our five men. Well, it is the fortune of war."

TO AID BOER AMBULANCE SERVICE.

State Department Considering Question of Transmitting Funds.

The State Department is taking steps to secretain whether it can accede to the wishes of the Red Cross Aid Association in the matter of transmitting funds to U. S. Consul Hay at Pretoria for the extension supply of medicines for the Boer sick and wounded.

A request to that effect was preferred by Mr. Pruyn, an officer of the organization referred to. It differed somewhat from applications made in behalf of certain Ger man organizations in the west, the purpose in the latter case being to extend aid to the Boer widows and orphans. The department is inclined to accede to Mr. Pruyn's request, as it d'd in the case of the German quest, as it d'd in the case of the German organization's application.

But it is probable that, to avoid any appearance of blas, the effort will be to provide for a disbursement of funds for the relief of the sick and wounded, regardless of nationality, during the continuance of the war. The department is now in cable correspondence with its representatives abroad on this subject.

Foreign Historians Not Indorsed.

The histories of the Spanish war, con tributed by the Spanish and German officers who participated in the events of which they wrote, have formed the subject of a half dozen special publications by the office of naval intelligence. Naturally many of these statements have brought forth strong contradictions and impeachment from the American officers who were on the other side. Therefore Secretary ing that the Navy Department does not indorse these views of foreign writers, but has avoided interfering with their narra-tives. In the interest of accuracy, flag officers, commanding officers and others who served in the late war, are invited to submit comments or statements traversing any incorrect assertions in the publications, such corrections if possible to be based on og books and records made at the time of the particular occurrence in question.

Debating the Hawaiian Bill.

In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Robinson (Ind.) criticised the provision in the Hawaijan bill continuing in force labor contracts existing in Hawaii, denouncing it as legalizing a system of wage slavery.

During Mr. Robinson's remarks Mr. Knox interrupted to deny that the penal statutes regarding contract labor would be contin ued in force by the pending bill, "Those by this bill. The trouble with the gentle-man is that he evidently has not studied the bill before the House."

Mr. Mondell (Wyo.) praised the form of government proposed by the bill, and the debate then drifted to the subject of ex-

DISCUSSION BY EAST WASHINGTON CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION.

Be Clearly Defined-Other Matters Considered.

There was a special meeting of the East Washington Citizens' Association last night at Baum's Hall, which was called by Mr. T. W. Smith, president of the association to consider questions deemed to be of public importance. Several communications from other associations were read and the report of the executive committee was sub

The Public Schools.

school question was discussed several members of the association. A letter relating to the proposed change in the school system was received from the North Capitol and Eckington Citizens' Association. The secretary stated in the letter that he had been instructed to ask the sev-eral clizens' associations to urge upon Congress favorable action upon the proposed legislation.

"If the report of the Senate investigating committee is not adopted," stated the sec-retary, "It is probable the present system retary, "it is probable the present system will continue, and also that the teachers who had the courage to state facts before the committee may have to suffer."

Mr. Appleton P. Clark, jr., acting chairman of the committee on schools and libraries, submitted a report. After setting out the contents of the bill, the committee states that its members are of the opinion: "First—That it is desirable to have the status of the school board more clearly defined than under present conditions, and that the full authority for control of the public schools should be placed in their public schools should be placed in their hands. The school board, as it exists, is an advisory board and has only such powers as the Commissioners may delegate to itwhich seem rather uncertain. The line of demarcation between the duties and re-sponsibilities of the superintendent of schools and the trustees does not seem to be clearly defined.

"Fourth—Should Congress deem it advisable to attach some compensation to the office of trustee, we are of the opinion that the amount should not be as large as stated in the amendment; it should not exceed $300 per annum for each trustee. For a school board it is desirable that the place should truly seek the man and not the man the board it is desirable that the place should truly seek the man and not the man the place, and it fills us with apprehension if the compensation should be large enough to create undue striving for the appoint-ments from a financial standpoint."

Amendment Proposed.

suggested that the amendment be voted down in order that he might move that the word "female" be inserted. The association voted simply to permit the amendment to lie on the table. Another amendment requiring that the trustees be citizens of the United States was accepted and the report was adopted.

Telephone Question Discussed. When President Smith called the attention of the association to the question of telephones Mr. Tracy L. Jeffords moved that the president of the association appoint a committee of three to appear be fore the Senate subcommittee at a hearing soon to be held and that the association resoon to be held and that the association reaffirm the resolutions passed two years ago, which were read, as follows:
"First. That the charges for telephone service in the District should be lowered and unlimited service furnished.
"Second. That we will use all reasonable efforts to effect this result.
"Third. That we believe the telephone service in the District should be under service in the District should be under municipal control.

"Fourth. That we favor legislation and other action for the introduction into the District of any competing telephone company, which is sound financially and fair in its character and methods, and which will give sufficient guaranty to properly and promptly repair streets where it dis-urbs them, and the franchise of which and promptly repair streets where it disturbs them, and the franchise of which shall provide that it shall continue in business for a term of not less than ten years and shall not dispose of its franchise of rights in any manner during that time, and shall not impose any unnecessary restrictions upon subscribers, and that during said period the telephone rates shall not be raised or the character of the service in any way impaired."

The motion was adopted.

Charities and Corrections.

Rev. W. E. Parsons, chairman of the committee on charities and corrections, adcommittee on charities and corrections, addressed the association. The question was brought up by a report of the committee of the beard of trade, recently made, concerning the jail, workhouse and almshouse. The report recommends the ultimate removal of these institutions from their present sites, together with potter's field and smallpox hospital, and other things that are objectionable.

Mr. S. W. Curriden said he thought it was a gross injustice to the people of East Washington to continue these institutions in their present locations. They prevent the extension of Massachusetts and Georgia avenues. He told of a conversation that occurred between a real estate dealer and a prospective purchaser. The latter was a comparative stranger in East Washington, and when he learned that the buildings in

PRESBYTERY OF

BUSINESS BEFORE SPRING MEETING OF CHURCH JUDICATORY.

First Church Disapproved - Delegates to General Assembly.

The sessions of the spring meeting of Washington city presbytery, which held at the Presbyterian church on 15th beginning Monday afternoon and continuing through yesterday, were brought to a close in the afternoon. A good deal of ousiness was dispatched. The committee on temperance, through the chairman, Rev. Dr. Easton, presented a report which urged greater attention on the part of the churches to this great reform, urging the President to prevent the importation and sale of liquor in the Philippine Islands and he enactment of pending legislation which would do away with the army canteen. The report was adopted, with the exception of the resolution relative to the army canteen, and action on the latter was deferred until the next meeting of the pres ovtery.

The action of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church in abolishing the board of deacons was the subject of a good deal of debate. It appeared that an appeal was taken from this action to the session of the church, and, in the opinion of the presbytery, that body improperly laid the appeal upon the table. It was explained that at that time all the deacons but one had resigned and the members refused to elect another board. It was, therefore, necessary to adopt this course in order to carry on the affairs of the board. The presbytery directed that as soon as, in the judgment of the session of the church, the time is opportune the action declaring the board of deacons abolished be reversed.

Amendment Proposed.

Mr. Tracy L. Jeffords suggested in the form of an amendment that the word wimale" be inserted before the word eleven in the report. This, he explained, would mean that the board of trustees should be composed entirely of men.

Several members were soon upon their feet to protest against the adoption of the amendment. It was their opinion that the mothers of the children should have a say in the matter of schools. Mr. Jeffords then suggested that the amendment be voted down in order that he might move that the 24th instant. It is believe that the Texans had failed to make out a good prima facie case. prospective purchaser. The latter was a comparative stranger in East Washington, and when he learned that the buildings in sight of Lincoln Park were prisons a prospective deal was declared off. After further remarks the report was adopted.

Before adjournment Mr. N. G. Ordway moved that the association make an effort to have the President appoint an East Washington man as a member of the board of Commissioners. During the course of his remarks he said the present members of the board seemed to be good men, although he would not agree that all the colored people and certain foreigners are thoroughly bad. The resolution was adopted.
